

Burford and its Church

Oxfordshire

The Society's second meeting took place on 20th September, 2003, in the town Meade Falkner loved and where his ashes were laid to rest, under the 'bale tomb' where his younger brother was already buried. We met at Cobb House, thanks to the kindness of members Raymond and Joan Moody. A large collection of Meade Falkner's works, and other books and pamphlets associated with him, were on display. We then went on a short tour of the town, including a visit to Burford Priory, and finished at the church, where we admired the stained glass windows and other gifts Meade Falkner had made and were treated to tea by the Friends of Burford Church. We also congregated around the 'Bale' tomb, which holds his ashes.

Studying Meade Falkner's works at Cobb House

The group outside Old Fleet Church and Meade Falkner's 'Bale' tomb

Evelyn Falkner's grave stone

Tea with the Friends of Burford Church